

ABSTRACT

WIDIYANTO POESOKO, Law Political of Community Organization in Establishing Security and Law Development Base on Indonesia Constitution 1945. Dissertation: Under the Supervision of Prof. Dr. Ade Saptomo, SH, MSi as the Main Adviser Prof. Dr. Faisal Santiago, SH, MM., as the Co adviser.

The problems under studies of this dissertation were stated in the following question ; based on the 1945 contitution 1. How does the politics of law of the community organization work in Indonesia; 2. How do the the community organization establish their roles for the security in the state of the Indonesia Republic; and 3. For the law development what roles should the government perform to strengthen the community organizations

The research used normative legal-yuridical method that studied laws as norm or legal principles employed within the csociety or as a reference for behaviours of the individuals in the community. The research alsoused socio-legal research that explored scientific truth in law through collecting and analyzing primary datain the field.

Results of the research showed that (a) the political of law of community organizations in Indonesia utilized three point; prinsiples of community organizations that accommodated public needs, expending public domain or creating it , and strengthening social moves to induce growing social institutions so as they function as rooms for equalizing the people's aspiration. The research also found that (b),the community organizations, in line with their security generation in Indonesia , delivered the people's aspiration through individual realtionship, direct representativeness, formal networks, or the institution. Last, (c) the government efforts so strengthen the community organizations within the frame of law development were done through mediation for solving the internal conflicts within the community organizations.

Through this dissertation, the research suggests that the community organization function as rooms for the people's organization needs in the life of the nation. To uphold the law entity then community organizations should conform their actions to be the statute laws as conveyed by the constitution.

Key words: Politics of law of community organization.